

Connected Health has many moving parts. We're experts in managing them.

Count on reliability, consistency and coordination.
We are a one-stop shop for Logistics & Support.

Coordinating people and processes for your patient population can be time-consuming and complicated. Let us help free up your clinicians and staff so that they can provide and improve healthcare, while you effectively meet the evolving needs and expectations of patients. Here are just some of the things we do:

Supply chain logistics — Trapollo assembles, ships, recovers, cleans and redeploys your devices for you. Our integrated technology platform tracks the exact location of each component across your program, providing a centralized dashboard for continuous progress mapping.

Call center support — Working from our HIPAA compliant call centers, our associates are highly trained to understand the patient population they're addressing — with care and compassion.

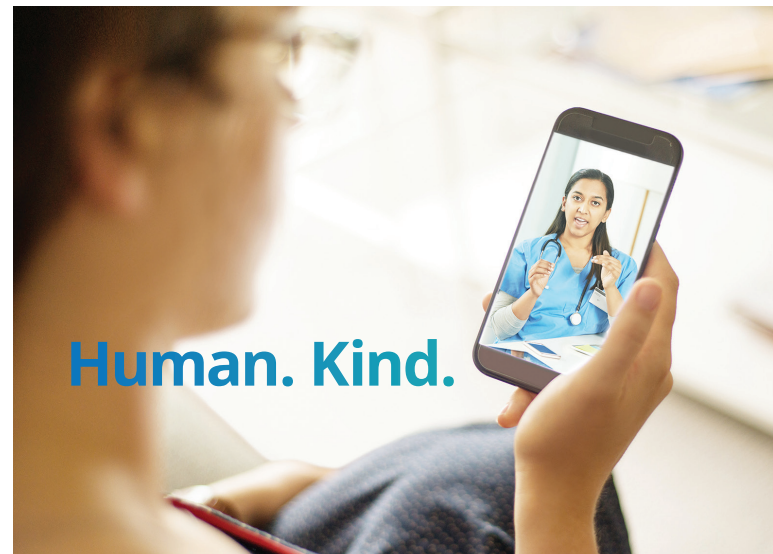

Program management — Our programs can be tailored to fit your needs and objectives. We design customized packaging, labeling, pairing instructions and device configurations with you and your patients in mind.

We also work with Original Equipment Manufacturers (OEMs), giving them the customer support they need for their products and platforms. We are experts in deployment and compliance and work with some of the top connected-device manufacturers in the industry.

Because of our 10+ years of experience in Remote Patient Monitoring (RPM) and logistics, we can provide efficient and effective solutions to scale, while also managing the complex challenge of equipment flowing in and out of a patient's home.

Trapollo is proof that a patient-first approach to Connected Health makes it more human. More kind. Let us show you how.
